

Employee Code of Conduct

Our mission and vision

Introduction

Dear Colleague,

At CLdN our mission is “To excel as an integrated provider of maritime links”. This is what we want to achieve as a business and the standard we set for ourselves and what customers and other stakeholders can expect of us.

We want to do our business on clearly communicated principles. Our CLdN Employee Code of Conduct sets out standards that we should all respect as we strive to achieve our mission.

CLdN is committed to remain in full compliance with all local and international laws, rules and regulations wherever we operate. The Employee Code of Conduct provides additional standards for how we interact as colleagues and with our stakeholders. In upholding these standards, we reduce the risks to ourselves and to CLdN’s assets and reputation - a reputation that has been carefully built over almost 100 years.

Please read this Employee Code of Conduct carefully. If anything is unclear, please raise it with your line manager or member of the Legal team (via codeofconduct@cldn.com). Should you find yourself in a situation where the law or this Code of Conduct are being disregarded, please raise your concern immediately through the appropriate channel.

I look forward to your support in upholding this Code of Conduct.

Florent Maes
CEO

The CLdN Management Team may grant specific exemptions authorising the consumption of alcohol at specific events during working hours. ## Company assets

We all have the duty to protect CLdN's property from risk or damage. Company assets (physical assets, company information, technology, intellectual property, money, plans, and other non-physical property) may only be used for their intended purpose. It is a condition of our engagement with CLdN that we use IT tools, access and data in a responsible way. This use also extends to cyber security and data breach risks. Any incident of fraud, loss, waste, damage, theft or data breach should be reported immediately to your manager.

Company data

We base our business decisions on sound and accurate data. Employees should at all times base their own decisions on accurate information and are encouraged to speak up should they believe that any decision is being based on flawed data or information.

We maintain our accounts and financial statements to reflect actual financial information in accordance with the relevant financial standards.

Any suspected unauthorised disclosure of or access to confidential information should be immediately reported to your line manager and / or the Legal team.

External communication

While our employees represent CLdN and our CLdN brand, we communicate with the media via designated spokespersons only. With this in mind, we require all employees to refrain from communicating or providing information as representatives of the company to the media or on social media without first obtaining specific approval. Any such employee communications should not disclose information that is confidential, commercially sensitive or proprietary to CLdN, nor any pictures taken on CLdN premises. You should not harm or tarnish the image, reputation and/or goodwill of CLdN.

When making personal online or social media (re-)posts, employees should be especially careful not to represent (or otherwise give the impression) that they are speaking, stating beliefs or offering opinions as an employee or representative of CLdN, nor post any pictures taken on CLdN premises.

Political activities

You must not promote, nor try to convince others of, your political or personal views or beliefs (including by posting or distributing notices or other materials) on or around CLdN vessels or premises and you may not indicate or suggest that you speak for CLdN or that the company supports your views. Prior approval is required where employees would represent CLdN in any group reporting to local, national or supranational authorities or governmental bodies.

Working with business partners

Bribery and corruption

We do not offer or promise a benefit or anything of value with the intent to or the effect of improperly influencing a person to act in CLdN's favour. We do not request any person to make payments, promises or offers on our behalf and we never accept or receive bribes from government officials or private individuals. Most such actions would be illegal. Failure to comply may also result in disciplinary action, up to termination of employment. Any concern regarding bribery or any other form of corruption must be reported immediately. In case of questions, please consult the Legal team.

Fair competition

At CLdN we compete to win business based on our strengths and values and we do not enter into agreements that directly or indirectly restrict competition with competitors, suppliers or customers. This includes price fixing, market sharing, bid rigging and abuse of market dominance. Breaches may lead to severe penalties both for CLdN and the individuals involved. Aside from the legal implications, such practices may also damage our reputation and commercial relationships. In case of doubt, or if you see or suspect any unfair competition or anti-competitive behaviour by an employee, consult the Legal team.

Gifts and entertainment

CLdN prohibits giving or accepting any gift which might unduly influence the judgment of the recipient by creating a disproportionate obligation to return a favour or by creating an appearance of impropriety. You may accept gifts (including corporate hospitality) if the timing of such gift is not coinciding with an important selection or investment decision, and if the cost/value is lower or equal to €60/£50. If the cost /value is higher you are expected before accepting a gift to obtain the prior written approval of your divisional COO or, if this was not possible, to declare the gift received to your divisional COO in writing as soon as possible afterwards. If you have any doubt, contact your line manager or the Legal team.

Conflicts of interest

All employees of CLdN should make decisions based only on the needs of the company. A conflict of interest arises when an employee seeks to influence a decision for personal gain, or the gain of related persons or of third parties. Employees may not compete with CLdN directly or indirectly or help any other party compete with us. Every employee has the obligation to disclose a potential or actual conflict of interest to their line manager or the Legal team.

International trade controls, regulations and sanctions
CLdN is committed to ensuring full compliance with applicable local, regional and international trade control laws, restrictions and sanctions that apply to our activities. We do not proceed with a transaction if there is any doubt about compliance with trade control laws.

Environment

In line with our vision, we are committed to managing CLdN's environmental performance and reducing any negative environmental impacts caused by our operations – both at sea and on land. We deploy technology and best operational practices to enable improvements in our performance and use quantifiable metrics to monitor our progress. Employees should be mindful of this environmental commitment and take a responsible approach to the environment in their work.

When informing our customers and other stakeholders of CLdN's environmental progress, we do so based on sound science and accurate data. If an actual or potential environmental incident occurs, you must report it immediately to your line manager.

We all individually take care to use the natural resources we consume during our work activities thoughtfully and economically, when using the company's assets (e.g. vessels and terminal machinery) or on a personal basis (e.g. driving company cars, using drinking water, heating/cooling the office spaces).

Application of the Code of Conduct

Governance

The CLdN Employee Code of Conduct has been approved by the CLdN Management Team and the Board of Directors.

To assure sustained awareness and compliance, our employees will be asked to read and sign our Code of Conduct annually.

Enforcement

As an employee at CLdN you agree to act in accordance with the commitments in our Code of Conduct. Engaging in behaviour that is not aligned with the Code of Conduct may result in CLdN commencing an investigation and, if the facts substantiate the misconduct or breach, CLdN will take corrective action. Violations of the Code of Conduct can lead to disciplinary actions consistent with applicable laws and regulations, as well as CLdN's disciplinary procedures, including right to appeal.

Speak up

We encourage you to speak up if you encounter behaviour that is not consistent with our Code of Conduct. If you suspect potential wrongdoing, you should contact your line manager or Human Resources representative, or you can contact CLdN's contact person directly through the dedicated e-mail address whistleblower@cldn.com.

CLdN is committed to respecting the confidentiality of employees who report such matters and to ensuring that complaints and questions are investigated and resolved properly.

CLdN will not tolerate retaliation against anyone who reports potential wrongdoing. No action will be taken against an employee who expresses a concern that was found to be inaccurate if the concern is expressed in good faith.
